

I am a customer of an independent ISP that uses the local phone company DSL line.

I chose to pay extra to use this ISP because of the superior service provided by the independent company. They provide superior service that is very professional and keeps my business and personal internet use on a high level. I could not hope to get this type of service from the phone company.